IBAN (International Bank Account Number) is not another account number, but an internationally recognized format for validating for instance customer accounts with Nykredit, of which the ordinary account number forms part. The IBAN is only used for cross-border payments.

The use of IBAN makes it possible for the remitting bank to check the validity of the relevant IBAN, thus avoiding additional costs for error correction.

For cross-border payments the sender should state both the IBAN which Nykredit has provided for the account and Nykredit's BIC/SWIFT (NYKBDKKK).

This document does not otherwise bear any guarantee or other liability except to confirm the existence of the accounts in our books.

Kind regards
Nykredit
